

HEAVY RURAL VOTE RECORDED AT POLLS

Balloting in Bucyrus Light
Because of Few
Contests

Bucyrus, Nov. 9.—There was a heavy rural vote in Crawford County yesterday due to the fact that the contests in the race for election of two members to the county board of education.

Bucyrus voters were light because there were no contests with the exception of the city school board and the campaign was a hot battle as far as a vote-getting interest creator was concerned.

A heavy Gallon vote is due to a red hot majority campaign between H. H. Hartman, Democratic candidate for re-election and G. M. Bridgley, Republican.

The vote summary follows: Marshall Bill, Yes 3,500; No 5,374; Christopher, Yes 4,889; No 4,231; county board of education: Dehman 1,751; Kiese 1,765; Mollweide 1,359; Walker 1,575; Bucyrus board of education: Cook 1,631; Gosholt 983; Paxton 1,290; Ruthoff 1,273.

HAZEN REELECTED

Mayor Hazen was reelected yesterday for his second term, defeating W. H. Hoberman, Democratic candidate.

DEMOCRAT IS NAMED INDIANAPOLIS MAYOR

Slack First Democrat Elected in 10 Years; Has Republican Council

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9.—With L. Ed. Slack today in office as the first Democratic mayor of Indianapolis in 10 years, a mighty political upheaval was in prospect for Indiana, which many observers thought might even extend to the presidential election in 1938.

Slack, who was perhaps the most surprised man in Indianapolis to learn that a Republican council had elected him mayor, plunged right into his duties today after a series of conferences with party leaders which many believe will make the city hall rather unsafe for Republican job holders.

Unbound by pre-election promises, Slack was in an admirable position to revive the Democratic position in Marion County and to play a prominent part in the 1938 gubernatorial contest and possibly to aid in turning the pivotal state of Indiana towards a Democratic nominee for president.

The new mayor in 53 years old and has a long political career which has taught him the tricks of the trade. His record as a member of the state senate, federal district attorney for Indiana and in other positions has been considered exceptionally clean. Slack's future will be furthered by the fact that the Republican party has borne the brunt of the political investigation that already has placed many city officials under charges and has indicted Gov. Ed. Jackson.

KONJOLA BROUGHT NEW HEALTH ALL OVER HIS SYSTEM

Another Marion Man Relieved of Stomach and Kidney Troubles by
New Compound.

"I have tried almost everything for stomach and kidney troubles, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I finally tried Konjola, and now I wish to endorse this medicine to others," said Mr. Harvey D. Sweger, a well-known

MR. HARVEY D. SWEGER

Photo by Master Studio, Marion, Marion citizen, living at 10th Ave., this city, during a recent conversation with the Konjola Man who is at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is personally explaining this celebrated new Konjola compound to large crowds daily.

"I was troubled for years with indigestion and stomach misery," said Mr. Sweger. "Everything I ate made me suffer with gas. My food would sour and ferment, and my chest would burn like fire. Due to weak kidneys, I had to get out of bed so often at night that it seemed like I was up every half hour. I had pains in my back nearly all the time, and in the morning I was so stiff and achy all over that it hurt me to move my body one way or the other. I was so miserable with all these health troubles, and was never able to find anything to help. I didn't know what to do for myself.

"Then I heard about Konjola and decided to try this medicine. It helped me from the very first bottle, and each day I was feeling better than I did the day before. Now I am on my fourth bottle, and I have no indigestion or bloating spells like I suffered before. My food always agrees with me and my kidneys are in good condition. I never have to get up once at night. I got wonderful relief from the pains in my back, and always feel fine in the mornings. The awful stiff, achy feeling is gone.

"I am certainly grateful to Konjola and the world of good this medicine has done me, so I endorse it to others."

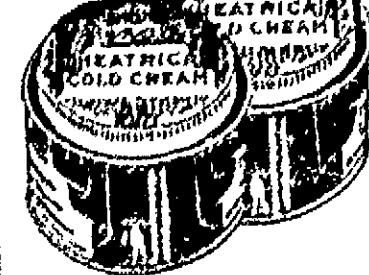

The Konjola Man is at the Stump and Sons Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all the other good druggists in every nearby town of this whole section.—Adv.

WHAT A Rexall ONE CENT SALE IS

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

FLOAT COWS

Massachusetts Farmer Puts "Water Wings" on His Head

Westfield, Mass., Nov. 9.—"Water wings" had been used for many years by aquatic novices but it remained for T. J. Dewey, a local farmer, to devise such means of floating for cows.

When the recent flood waters descended upon Dewey's farm he was confronted with the problem of saving his herd of milk cows. The "water wings" idea crystallized. Twenty gallon milk cans with the stoppers firmly plugged in were attached to the cows. When the flood grew deep the cows just floated until they struck terra firma again.

If a kicker is eloquent, he can grace the lecture platform.

FRAT IS RAIDED

Twenty-five Iowa State Students May Be Suspended

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 8.—The Iowa State campus centered with excitement here today as an investigation into fraternity house life got under way, following a raid on the Sigma Chi House that netted considerable liquor.

The 25 students who live at the house probably will be suspended for a year if the usual custom in such cases is followed, students said. Included in their number is Walter Weiss, captain and quarterback of the football team.

Officers searched the house from cellar to attic. Reports were that a bottle was found in every room. When in a state of fermentation, was found in the basement.

DEPUTY ARRESTED

Charged With Embezzlement While in Hospital Bed

Washington, Nov. 8.—H. Clay Powell, assistant chief field deputy of the internal revenue bureau, was arrested here, charged with embezzlement of $2,500. The warrant was served while Powell lay in a sickbed in George Washington Hospital, suffering from appendicitis.

U. S. Commissioner Turnage visited the hospital and put Powell under $5,000 bond to appear for a hearing Dec. 8.

Last year the Red Cross said!

"Prepare now for inevitable future disasters."

Then Came The Flood!

LAST year, in asking your support, the Red Cross warned against inevitable future disasters—explained the imperative need for preparedness.

You responded—willingly. And in the nick of time—for there followed two of the worst catastrophes this nation has known. In Florida, a devastating hurricane. In 7 states, the Mississippi Flood.

Nor did the list end there. While appalling destruction on the Mississippi gripped the attention of the world, the Red Cross acted quietly, efficiently, as your agent of relief. Not only on the Mississippi, but in twelve other disasters which occurred simultaneously.

Again—the same month which saw the great Florida hurricane also witnessed a tornado in Ohio... a devastating fire in Alaska... floods in Illinois, Kansas and Iowa. And, in every case, the Red Cross directed the immediate relief, carried out the permanent rehabilitation.

Now—once more—the Red Cross must prepare for future catastrophes. And again we feel that every American will hasten to renew his membership in this great humanitarian organization.

If you believe in helping humanity, you believe in the Red Cross. 5,000,000 Members are necessary if the needs shall be met.

ON THE Streets of Marion WITH THE STAR STAFF

BERT POWELL is unquestionably a proficient and conscientious policeman but he makes no pretension of being familiar with the effects of nervous shock upon the human appetite and digestive system. A policeman must be informed on many subjects, but causes of dyspepsia are not in his line.

As a consequence, a local motorist's enjoyment of his noon-meal one day this week registered zero or possibly a much lower mark on his gastronomical thermometer.

Bert detected the automobile circling the Center and Main's traffic signal without any regard whatever for the signs or rules, and when the machine headed for the Midway Restaurant, the officer started in pursuit.

By the time Powell arrived, the driver had parked his machine in a space where parking is prohibited and had gone into the restaurant. He was just preparing to order a meal of substantial proportions when the officer appeared to escort him down to see Municipal Judge Martin.

"I'll wait till you get through eating," Bert said magnanimously.

"Well, you won't have to wait long now. You've spoiled my appetite," was the motorist's gloomy response. After making a futile attempt to consume a sandwich and gulping down a cup of coffee for stimulant, he and Bert made their way to the city hall to hear what the judge had to say.

PEDESTRIANS on S. State-st, did some tall shuffling one day this week when a chunk of coal sized past them and into the large window of the Musser Flower Shop. Just where to place the blame is hard to decide for the coal man who lost the chunk off his wagon did not know it and neither did the man driving the car, the wheel of which hit the coal at just the right angle to send it through the window. Nobody stopped but the pedestrians.

THE crossword puzzle, resumed this week in The Star, in its present form was started in 1912 by Arthur Wynne, now of the International Feature Service. Years later, school teachers began assigning them to the children for homework as they saw in them a means of instruction and amusement. Then colleges took them up and the puzzles lost their early simplicity and became diffused with Greek letters and chemical abbreviations. About this time there was a great desire to squelch them and make the world more comfortable for "just folks," but the fire was too much ablaze to be affected by a little sprinkling of cold water. The cross-world puzzle craze rapidly spread to China, Japan, Russia and all Continental countries.

Today it is just as popular as ever, and numbers among its admirers some of the most prominent men and women of the time. So if you have a weakness for puzzles, don't be ashamed. Admit it boldly. And watch for the best puzzles yet in The Star.

And to think that not so very long ago Columbus people actually thought their ball team was absolutely the worst that could happen to them!

A Brussels cable tells us that 200,000 protested the new prohibition law in Belgium yesterday. That's hardly worth cabling. Pally that many have been protesting our prohibition law over here for years.

Judging by Berlin comment, the note penned by Mr. S. Parker Gilbert to the German government is hardly likely to endure for all time as a model of diplomacy.

It develops that there has been talk among the Russian communist leaders of putting both Trotsky and Zinoviev to death. Well, if anything like that comes to pass, the fault is their own. They had no business to place naked swords in the hands of madmen.

All of us have heard of the straw that broke the camel's back, but it remained for Indiana to report that the mere scratch of a straw produced an infection which led to the death of a citizen of Monon, in that state.

Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, of New York, says "America is full of starving geniuses, who are marlinate because they are afraid of hardiness and of loneliness." The next time one of 'em comes to the kitchen door for a "bite to eat," slap him on the back, invite him in, give him a cigar and tune in on the radio. The loneliness of genius should be dispelled.

The disturbing phase of the complete destruction by fire, Monday, of the Phillips farm house in De Russys lane, (the one-time rendezvous of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, is that it may cause New York to hold to a second chance to incite the authorities down there to a second campaign of persecution of a lot of decent, respectable people.

French Have Ground for Protest.

There's a strong possibility that newspaper publicity seekers may soon receive an awful blow over in Paris. The French people, not without reason, have become indignant over what they term the "exploitation of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier" by persons who stage pilgrimages to the Arc de Triomphe in the Place de l'Etoile "merely to get their names and pictures into the newspapers." Laying a wreath at the tomb, the French say, has become a sure way of obtaining free publicity, and they charge that people who have never set foot in any of the war cemeteries strew wreaths or flowers over the tomb because they know that reporters are watching and cameras are leveled at them. The French urge the newspapers to put an end to this by ceasing to report visits to the tomb.

There can be no question but what this game has been overplayed since the placing of a wreath upon the tomb by Lindbergh and the great publicity following it. Lindbergh made himself a great hero in the eyes of the French as well as to the civilized world by his wonderful pioneering across the Atlantic. As such, there may have been excuse for the placing of a wreath by him, and there probably was, as he became the honored guest of the entire French people. In any event, the French appreciated his tribute to their honored dead highly, not realizing the awfulness of the aftermath. There was real reason why General Pershing should pay his respects at the tomb. Of him, just as in the case of every other officer in high command of troops of the Allies in the World War, France would naturally expect it. It was proper that the Legionnaires upon the occasion of their second pilgrimage to France should drop bloom upon the tomb. There are others who would naturally be expected to visit the tomb and leave some floral token of their visit.

But none of these nor all combined justify the laying of wreaths or flowers upon the tomb by every Tom, Dick and Harry in the mad chase of publicity. Whenever such a pilgrimage is made to exploit the one making it or appease his vanity, it should not be permitted to accomplish the object sought, and it shouldn't be a matter of great difficulty to draw the line between cases where publicity should be given such a pilgrimage and cases where publicity should be withheld.

But we very gravely fear that the exploitation of the tomb will not wholly cease until American papers refuse to print such pictures or the American publicity chasers have been rebuffed.

Marriages and Divorces.

The annual report of the department of commerce, just given out for publication in Washington, presents statistics on the marriages and divorces in the country which do not offer the happiest augury for the future of the American home.

The figures presented show that the total number of marriages in the country in 1926 was 1,292,979, an increase of 1.2 per cent. over the total of 1925; that 1926 divorces numbered 130,855, an increase of 3.1 per cent. over the total for 1925. In other words the percentage of increase in divorces was almost two and two-thirds times the percentage of increase in marriages.

This situation in itself would have been bad enough, but it doesn't tell all the story. Not only is divorce gaining in popularity over marriage, but the percentage of increase in divorces is greater than the percentage of increase in population while the percentage of increase in marriages last year fell behind the percentage of population increase. While the marriage increase percentage was 1.2, the increase in population was estimated at 1.5 per cent.

For the United States as a whole the average rate of marriage during 1926 was 19.25 to 1,000 of population, while the average divorce rate was 1.52 divorces to 1,000 population.

It is always possible that economic conditions were responsible for the fact that the percentage of increase in marriages did not keep step with either the percentage of increase in divorce or the percentage of increase in population, but it will probably be nearer the mark to attribute the impetus of popularity shown by the divorce court and the decrease of popularity suffered by the marriage altar to the same general set of influences arrayed against the home life of the country—the free lover and other moral perverts, the magazine writers and essayists who extol trial marriage in novels and magazines and the disreputable division of the press and those who preach either free love or trial marriage from platform or pulpit. Happily, of the latter there are but a few, but of such even one would be too many.

The one hopeful phase of the situation, as it appears to us, is that the country is now suffering from the vicious circle shown in the past. We believe that there has been a turn for the better and that the harvests of the future, despite the fact that statistics for last year show to the contrary, will produce more wholesome grain and less chaff.

While King Alfonso, of Spain, is enjoying a visit in Italy, Queen Victoria and two daughters are the guests of Princess Beatrice at Kensington palace in London. Here's a splendid chance for the Madrid correspondents to pull off another revolution.

Lieutenant Alfred J. Williams, of the navy, gave the machine he was unable to get ready for the Venice-Lido contest a try-out Sunday and attained an unofficial world speed record of 322.5 miles an hour. Aeroplane and aquaplane speed records are being broken so regularly these days that, almost before one can be checked up, another is made.

Rear Admiral Magruder has been placed on the "waiting" list, where opportunity to fiddle his thumbs is unlimited. Really, it seems there must be some better way of utilizing the talent of a brave man and a capable seaman, whose offense was limited to the feeling of what was probably the truth.

According to reports from Washington, Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, arrived there accompanied by a brass band and a thirst, but considering the stripes in the suit the pictures show him wearing it's hard to understand the necessity for the brass band.

Prohibition agents were unable to find any liquor in the Post Tavern, the leading hotel of Battle Creek, but they got a hell boy to bring them a flask, and now the well-known hostility is liable to a padlocking proceeding. In other words, a big hotel may be padlocked owing to the action of a hell-boy bootlegger. Something tells us that such was never the intent of those passing the padlocking law.

The Mountain observatory at Kangerlussuaq, South Greenland, reports regular summer weather with a minimum temperature of four degrees above zero, from which it may be seen that the weather we experienced here in Ohio last summer is still hanging on up there.

President Coolidge, asked what he intended to do at the expiration of his term, replied: "Well, for a year or two, I am going to whistle." And now the country will probably be rushing around, like a chicken with its head off, hunting for a new definition of "whistle."

The Daily Mail, of London, asserts that a commission of fifteen Chicagoans is over there under the instructions of Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, to study London traffic regulations with the view of utilizing them in handling traffic in Chicago. In view of "Big Bill's" manifest hatred of all things English, we simply can not escape the feeling that it's a gross libel on Bill Hale. We just know that one of his profound secrets would never deceive us like that!

The graves of General Gomez and his nephew, Francisco Gomez Viscarra, having been added to the row containing the bodies of Serrano and ten others held to have been in its way, there doesn't appear to be anything left in the way of the Calles-Obregon combination machine in its triumphal progress toward the Mexican preddieery.

We are pleased to note that the figures from the treasury in Washington showing that the stock of gold in this country amounts to $4,500,000,000, or fifty-five per cent. of the gold coin of the world, are accompanied by the announcement that $2,000,000,000 of the amount are stored in the government's assay office in New York City. This will dissipate any possible suspicion harbored by those who are inclined to break in and steal that we hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs have all of it salted away.

Heart Muscles Play Big Part.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
In many respects the most important of our organs is that restless, ever-beating pump, known as the human heart.

How long would an aeroplane remain in the air if the propellers failed to work? It is only by the continued activity of these revolving arms that the aviator can master the air. He trusts his very life to their unflinching action.

Each of us is equally dependent on the unceasing activity of the heart. If it were to go on strike life would end at once.

Fortunately, nature planned the heart so that it has reserves of strength. In a sense, we are supplied with "extra parts." Of course, we are not used as extra automobile or plough parts are. Nature does not take out a set of valves and put in new ones.

But the heart has been given more strength than the ordinary demands require. If one part of the machine grows weak, another part is increased in power, making it possible for the heart to carry on its duties.

This arrangement is a fortunate one. Without it life would be uncertain. We are subject to so many accidents and diseases that the heart would surely fail if it were not planned so wisely.

Without telling you a lot just now about the valves of the heart, I shall limit this story to the function of the heart muscle.

When the valves of one part of the heart fail to close as they should the blood is permitted to flow backward—the wrong way. Then, in order to supply the body with its needed blood, the heart muscle must work harder to send the blood stream in the proper direction.

In a case like this nature causes the part of the heart so called upon to become thicker and stronger. The muscle becomes bigger—"hypertrophied," the doctors call it. Also they say that "compensation" has taken place, meaning of course, that one part of the heart is playing a part to make up for a breakdown elsewhere.

But the heart muscle can not do this extra work unless it is well nourished. If there is one person in the world whose body needs to have good muscular power it is the victim of what we call "heart disease." There must be proper feeding to nourish the muscle fibers and make them strong.

When the body has been permitted to run down and all the muscles are weak and flabby it is difficult to restore the muscles to their normal tone. This fact should make clear how important it is to be in better trim all the time. Everything which gives strength of body strengthens the heart muscles. Live the right life and you have insured yourself against the evil effects of heart disease.—Copyright, 1927.

Father—"A young lady who is engaged to be married."

A writer was hearing the end of his most exciting story when his wife burst into the room with the cry: "Joe, the house is on fire! The firemen are pounding on the door!"

"That's all right, dear," he replied. "Just tell them I'll soon be finished."

"Cheer up, woman," said the farmer to the newly-made widow of a neighbor. "You're young yet and good looking, and you could soon get another husband."

"Oh, no, no!" cried the widow. "who would have me?"

"Why, if I had a better pair of boots on, I'd run away with ye myself," said the farmer gallantly.

The widow, lifting her face and wiping her eyes, said earnestly: "I wonder would John's fit you?"

Editorial Comment.

MR. HOOVER AND THE WAR WHEAT PRICE.

As the potential commander of Herbert Hoover looms larger in the presidential office, it is inevitable that he should be assailed by all manner of tales calculated to turn sentiment against him. A Texas ranchman, who signs himself an attorney-at-law, is flooding the press of the country with copies of a letter, in which he propounds the remarkable theory that Mr. Hoover is subtly plotting to turn the American farmer into a mere peasant. Since that is something impossible of accomplishment, it is a task which the intensely practical-minded Hoover would never attack, even supposing he thought it desirable—which, of course, he doesn't.

But one of the most persistent of anti-Hoover yarns is the one to the effect that it was he who led the wartime price of wheat, and thus took millions upon millions of dollars out of the pockets of American farmers.

Fortunately, the truth as to the government handling of wheat prices on a $220 basis during the war, is not far to seek. The Kansas City Star has produced the testimony of the survivors of the committee, headed by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, that did fix this price at the request of President Wilson.

It appears on unimpeachable evidence that Mr. Hoover had not the smallest of shares in that decision. He did not belong to the committee. He did not sit in council with it, nor give it advice, nor have anything whatsoever to do with its decision. On the other hand, duly accredited representatives of the farming interests served on the committee and helped reach the decision.

The wisdom of that act could probably be established beyond much question. But that is not in issue, so far as Mr. Hoover is concerned. He is clear of it.

And so let us await with patience for the next effort of those who are striving to undermine the Hoover movement with such little success.—Minneapolis Journal.

DR. NANSSEN DISCOVERS RUSSIA.

A dispatch from Geneva says that Dr. Nansen, the distinguished explorer and humanitarian, has been so badly treated in Russia that he has little sympathy left for the soviets and their program. Dr. Nansen went to Russia as high commissioner of the League of Nations, with $300,000 to spend for the improvement of the condition of the peasantry. Of the money, $200,000 was Dr. Nansen's Nobel prize, which he gave to the cause, and the rest was contributed by generous men and women in many parts of the world.

Dr. Nansen undertook to operate a number of model farms. He installed the latest machinery and employed the methods developed by modern agricultural science. His efforts were resented by the peasants in whose midst he was working. They saw in his model farms only a threat to deprive them of their land. When Dr. Nansen opened a sand pit on one of the properties he was so heavily fined by the local functionaries for failing to ask permission to dig gravel that he was obliged to suspend activities temporarily. The government took advantage of the suspension to withdraw his concession. Dr. Nansen thus lost his money and the fruits of several years of work.

Dr. Nansen is now the grand old man of European liberalism. Many will be found to disagree with his policies and theories, but no one will question the goodness of his intentions or his integrity. The revelation of soviet arrogance, incompetence and stupidity which alienated him must be a severe blow to those who have long maintained that the inability of the Russian government to get along with any foreigner must be attributed solely to the greed of foreigners in seeking Russian concessions.—Chicago Tribune.

PROGRESS STEPS SOUTH.

America of the future must include the South in a degree of importance as yet only beginning to be visioned.

There is a great fallow territory of richness laden with possibilities for great human development, left behind in a sort of pocket, as it were, while civilization swept on to the West. The great western sweep is now pretty much over. The South is beginning to invite us never before. There have been reasons plenty why the South has lagged, why it has gone pretty much unnoticed while the United States developed tremendously elsewhere, but the day of those specially retarding influences must be pretty nearly over. At no distant day the great development of the South is likely to come with a rush.

When the great day of the South comes it will find itself with a homogeneous population. It will draw its new influx of population from the North. With our immigration laws as they are now, the South will fill up with those already here rather than with new material comprised of those who do not know our ways. That will give the South a tremendous advantage.

Nowhere in the world today is there such a comparatively hollow pocket waiting to be filled. The old plantation days are about over. Schools and factories and great industrial projects are going in. When the great influx and developments come the South will change politically and culturally. National progress will set its next step in the South.—Michigan State Journal.

Hudson Bay.

By GARRETT P. SERVICE.

One of the most fascinating romances of the first half-century of the great western and northern oceans is the story of the discovery of that remarkable inland sea known as Hudson bay, which, in the far north, effects the tropical Gulf of Mexico. There, on the edge of the icy Arctic, Hendrick Hudson, the discoverer of New York bay and Manhattan island, and the Hudson river, seeking always a way to Asia around the northern end of America, perished amidst the ice flows, in an open boat in which his marooned crew had turned him adrift.

Hudson's story with his ship into that great cul-de-sac, which seemed to him so sure a highway to the Pacific, and his vain search for a western exit from the vast trap into which he had sailed, make an irresistible appeal to the imagination and the sympathy of the reader. The tragic end of the first white man who ever trod the soil of Manhattan island, or saw the freezing Palisades, the blue Catskills, and the snow-capped hills around the site of Albany is not an event to be forgotten, especially by the inhabitants of the enormous city by whose wharves flows the grand river bearing the Hudson's name.

The river has had a foremost place in the eyes of the busy world almost from the day its discoverer first sailed up its romantic stream, but the great bay in the Far North has remained known to but few except geographers and explorers, being associated in the minds of most people only with the frozen and uninhabitable Arctic.

But now a brighter day is promised for it. A Hudson bay railroad, grain shipping ports on the shores of the bay, and a direct line of steamers to Europe, are in contemplation in Canada, and an expedition is reported to be examining on the ground the practicability of using Hudson strait for navigation in all seasons. Hudson bay lies in about the same latitude as the Baltic sea, and there are those who dream of the possibility of building up with the aid of agriculture and commerce, a great empire centering about its shores.

Perhaps this is a terrifically naive only to a future age. Geology, or meteorology, may make it possible through some great alteration in the crust of the earth, or in the composition of the atmosphere, such as seem to have taken place in the past. If, as the facts revealed by exploration indicates, there was once a time when temperate and even tropical vegetation and other forms of life flourished close around the north pole, then there is no positive reason for deeming that a similar condition may recur. We know that the crust of the earth is undergoing slow changes of relative level, and we also know that the elevation of a continent has a decisive influence upon its climate.

One can imagine upon fairly sound grounds some revolution of that kind which would make of Hudson bay and the vast well-watered country surrounding it, a population and wealthy region, a new section of the civilized world, where new fortunes could be deployed, new capitals built, and perhaps a fresh start made by humanity. The remains of extinct cities and civilizations in the heart of old Asia, and the probability that the Sahara desert was once a flourishing land, are other indices of encouragement for the land-locked gulf in which Hendrick Hudson was heartlessly set adrift to perish, abandoned and alone, 317 years ago.—Copyright, 1927.

Poems That Live.

THE PALACE OF IMAGERY.

Oh, far and far, where the dark moon rises
Above the rim of the wide, dark sea,
Is the dwelling-place of glad surprises,
The white-towered palace of imagery,
Ivory towers in the fragrant aura
Of gardens haunted by dream-born flowers,
Gardens where fountains of ghostly flora
Gleam in magic moon-petalled hours.

Port, withdrawn from the world and lonely,
Alone, remote as the shining light
Of the moon, so distant earth knows only
Its splendor flowing down the night.

Post, do you dwell there, with eyes gifted
To see, following over the gleam,
Till from the sands of thought's sea are sifted
The golden words of your golden dream?

New York Day by Day.

By O. O. MONTYRE.

New York Nov. 9.—Broadway has three distinct shadows in its lower middle and upper sections. It runs almost the entire length of the island and has been called "the street that whips the universe." It is true it has a pace in amusements.

Its theaters are the finest and its production the best. Its cafes and supper clubs on a near it are seldom equalled. Broadway is a playground where an overworked nation daps and heels. Its assessed property value is $2,741,115,800. The total value of property on the island is $7,755,116,725.

In early days of Dutch settlers all of Broadway was below Wall street. Lower Broadway is a jostling section by day and as quiet as Trinity and St. Paul church yards after dark.

Until the skyscraper craze leaped northward, the city's tallest buildings—such as Singer and Woolworth—were on the lower end of the island. Thousands of clerks, stenographers and other office workers debouch the in the early morning. It ripples with speed activity.

The middle section, which begins at Twenty-third street and ends at Columbus circle is the strip devoted to gaiety and night pleasures. Here is the Rialto, with its scores of Theatrical temples and cinema palaces. It is lighted with 1,245,538 lamps casting a 25,000,000 candle-power glow.

The electric signs were used first by theater and then by the department stores, but the idea spread to cafes, barber shops, tailors, druggists, shoe stores and such. The avenue is strung only with a necklace of amber-colored street lights. The gaudy electric signs have been banned.

Upper Broadway, which begins properly Seventy-second street, has lately become a high-powered business section, almost comparable in hotel, cafe and theater glitter with a middle section. This contains for two blocks, when it begins slowly to taper off in an apartment-house section.

The name, "The Great White Way," for the middle section of Broadway, has been attributed to various people. Some say it is Diamond Jim Brady. Others have claimed was a comedian appearing at the old Hays Square, long ago. But the most conclusive evidence is it was bestowed by a reporter, a honored and unassuming, who used the description in a writeup on the old Sun.

Over in a Jersey village a local huckster is held to a cast-off motor car engine after a year for room rent of a stranded street carman. It looked as though he faced the what-else problem, but being engaged as a side-line selling market vegetables, he lost the drummed up with his wares and made a daily canvass. He taught the camel tricks, and a few weeks ago a film scout sight him and his camel for the movies at a weekly salary the like of which he had never dreamed.

The latest in dinner extravaganzas is planned from a society weekly. A lady not satisfied with the local sort of dinner favors sails for Paris two weeks before the dinner at selected an individual gift for thirty-for guests at a price averaging $100 each.

And gossip has it that at the same dinner guests became so hilariously cock-eyed a visiting Lord got into the family ice-box after midnight and stayed in a sham battle of left and right donkeyies which entirely ruined an imported Persian rug. Yet over on his island was "vulgar Americans."

At one of those exclusive and dreary day where fathers apply for the membership sons on the day of birth, it was discovered the other day the waiting list was so long, boy born that week could not become a member until he was thirty-four years old.—Copyright, 1927.

Tex Rickard May Lose Crown As King Of Promoters

Tunney's Relations With Garden Head Commercial; Champ May Fight Elsewhere

Jack Kearns Will Attempt To Prove That Madison Square Garden Is Monopoly; Split Said To Be Threatening Between Tex and Other Stockholders

BY DAVID J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—There were indications today that the relations between Tex Rickard, the man with the one-way luck, may soon find him self running against traffic for the first time in his public life. Rickard holds the whip hand at this time but there is the real test will come a year from now, provided Gene Tunney still holds the heavyweight championship.

No Love Lost

To those close to Tunney, it is no secret that the champion is bound to Rickard only by a matter of commercial instinct; that between promoter and champion the love lost would fill a large eye in a small needle. It is a good guess that if Tunney can see his way clear at all, he will refuse to tie himself up with Rickard beyond the next championship fight in the hope that some other promoter, Jim Mulen for example, will be able to show something by that time.

So much for some alleged anti-Rickard sentiment from a source that really counts. It counts just this much: That if Tunney really cares to look the party, Rickard's monopoly on heavy weights—the source of all his recent success—will be broken as you break the back of a beetle.

However, it is well to remember that Rickard got Tunney nearly a million dollars for his last fight. And I've noticed from personal experience that you can't hate a man who hands you a million and he really shivers about it.

There are influences, quite independent of Tunney, that are turning their guns on Rickard, and one of them is said to come from within Rickard's own organization. This man failed to entice over the fact that Tunney and Dempsey split a million and a half in Chicago and the Garden got some $100,000 for making the match possible and more recently the organization failed to pass a contract. Rickard made for Paulino and Phil Scott.

Split Threatened

The promoter laughed that one off with a deep contralto but the fact continued to register that the contract remained unapproved. Even the majority stockholder, it would seem, has something to worry about if his own organization fails to stay with him.

All of which brings us around to Jack Kearns and the Dempsey suit, which is due to begin next week. According to Kearns' statement, he is going after Rickard just as hard as he will attempt to hurt Dempsey; for Kearns has declared eternal vendetta against the promoter.

Nobody takes Kearns seriously about sending Mickey Walker out as a heavyweight contender but the man who can make Walker what he is today in a man who might very well produce another heavyweight champion. If he ever got one, Kearns wouldn't let Rickard sell tickets at the door.

LOSSES HEAVY

Seventeen Wolverine Veterans To Graduate in Spring

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 9.—Coach Tad Wilmann and his Michigan hopefuls paused in their training long enough today to shed a few tears over the seventeen veterans who will be lost to the team next year through graduation. Included in the number are Nylund, Heston, Captain Osterman, Gabel, Harrigan, Baer, Palmer, all, Hoffman, Miller, Doolittle, Gilbert, Underkuffler and Babcock. But the "guys all here" now and they are prying hard with the hope of slinking Navy home Saturday.

LEAGUE PRESIDENT

Top to bottom, Frank Navin, vice president, Ernest S. Barnard, newly elected president of the National League, and William H. Hargrave, secretary. Barnard is prominent in baseball circles, around Cleveland, where he has been employed by the league for some years.

The Hoffmeyer bowling team in the National league dropped the first game but took the last two from the Thomas team last night. Lattimore won the three straight from Burnett in the Gardner Tap and Die league the grinding department took the last game from the shipping department after dropping the first two.

BIG RED EXPECTS DAYTON TO BATTLE

Victory Over Ohio Northern Boosts Miami Stock

Oxford, Nov. 9.—Miami's victory over Ohio Northern at Ada Saturday raised Oxford stock considerably in Oxford. The Big Red Boosted completely against Wittenberg the week before and there had been much conjecture here as to how rapidly the team could get back to normal. A 34 to 6 victory over Northern seems to have satisfied the skeptics here that once again Coach Pittner's machine is the steam rolling outfit of old.

Pittner tried an entire second team against Northern Saturday, using the varsity only a short time in the last three periods. The varsity did not practice at all last week, the Miami coaches thinking it the easiest way to bring the boys back to the edge they have had all season. Pittner feels that the team is again ripe for a week of hard work and he is putting them through a stiff workout every night in preparation for the Dayton Fliers Saturday.

The coaching staff mixes so words in describing Dayton's strength. Pittner feels that the Dayton Fliers have the best team the Big Red will meet this season. Wittenberg put to the contrary.

The game with Dayton means much to Miami. If they can defeat Dayton Saturday Wittenberg will have to bend both Dayton and Ohio Wesleyan to get better than a tie with Miami for Buckeye honors. Big Red supporters who saw Wittenberg play are thinking that Wittenberg can't accomplish this feat, some of them holding that Wittenberg has a chance of losing both titles. At any rate, a win for Miami Saturday puts them all in a hole if they fail to get more than a tie with the Oxford team. The boys are still smarting under the defeat handed them by Wittenberg and they are out to trim Dayton, and they will fight Saturday as they have not done this year. It should be Ohio's "Battle of the Century."

BISHOPS' CHANCE

Who Over Lutherans Will The Buckeye A. A. Honors

Delaware, Nov. 9.—After holding the highly touted Syracuse team to a 6 to 6 tie last Saturday Ohio Wesleyan is believed to have at least a "fighting chance" in the crucial game against Wittenberg at Springfield this weekend. If they can beat the Lutherans, the Bishops will be enabled to go into a tie for the Buckeye Athletic Association championship, which Wesleyan has won every year since the Association was formed.

BIG LEAD

St. Xavier Rolls Up Big Lead Over Opponents

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—St. Xavier, generally conceded to be one of the strongest teams in the Ohio Conference this year, though their schedule includes only one conference game, will meet the Catholic University eleven from Washington, D. C., at Corcoran Field here Saturday. The Musketeers suffered their first defeat of the season from the Quantico Marines last week. The Devil Dogs won by the slim margin of 14 to 13. To date, the Musketeers have scored 335 points, to their opponents 33, or a ratio of more than 10 to 1.

DELAWARE HIGH GRID TEAM HERE SATURDAY

First Stringers Given Rest from Practice Last Night

The Harding-Delaware football game this week-end will be played on Saturday and not on Friday as it was rumored early in the week. Coach Bolger said this morning that so far as he knew the game would be played on the regular date. It will be the last time local fans will have an opportunity to see the Red and Black in action on the home field this season. On the following Saturday Harding goes to Shelby for the last game this year.

There was no practice for the first stringers last night. They were given a chance to recover from the bumps and bruises they received at the hands of the Mansfield team last Saturday. Harding was greatly outwitted by the Big Red and the players show the effect of the weight disadvantage.

The injuries will likely keep only Stafford out of the game Saturday. A number of others, however, may be used as little as possible in order to save them for the Shelby conflict. Lewis has a knee that is giving him some trouble and Love has a couple of cracked ribs.

Coach Bolger is out again after a short illness.

Getting a child to bed is hardest when she is nineteen years of age.

Bruce Caldwell Lost to Old Eli

Famous Yale Back Out on Eve of Princeton Clash

New Haven, Nov. 9.—Yale will play its annual game with Princeton at the Yale Bowl here next Saturday minus the services of Bruce Caldwell, its famous halfback. Caldwell, who has been frequently mentioned for All-American honors this season, was declared ineligible to compete with the Bulldogs in an announcement made last night by Professor George T. Nettleton, chairman of the Board of Control of Athletics at Yale.

Professor Nettleton, in his statement, announced that Caldwell was disqualified because of his newly discovered participation at Brown University in 1923 in two football games with the Bruins' freshmen eleven.

New Haven, Nov. 9.—With Garvey substituting for the ineligible Caldwell in the backfield, Yale was scheduled for scrimmage this afternoon following yesterday's practice session.

LEADERS BATTLE

Ohio Wesleyan and Wittenberg Settle Question Saturday

Springfield, Nov. 9.—The climax of the present Ohio Conference season will be reached when Ohio Wesleyan and Wittenberg meet here Saturday afternoon. The championship of the Conference and of the Buckeye Athletic Association, as well, hinges on the result. Wittenberg at present leads both circuits but if Wesleyan wins Saturday's game there will be no single, clearly defined champion in either.

WILDCATS ORGANIZE BASKETBALL TEAM

Squad Made Up of Harding High School Juniors

The Wildcat basketball team has been reorganized for the year and is ready to open its season according to Capt. Robert Todd. The Wildcats' squad is made up of Harding High School juniors. They want games with other Marion teams and with high school teams in surrounding towns.

In the three years the Wildcats have been organized they have lost only five games while they have 33 wins checked up to their credit. The team hopes to make this its best year and plans to enter the Y. M. C. A. tournament in the spring.

The members of the squad are Edward Hachten, Kenneth Joffe, Howard Bailey, forwards; Marion Travis, and Weber, centers; William Koller, Lawrence Kisher, William Roush, and Captain Todd, guards.

"Scoop" Irvin will coach the Wildcats. The first game will probably be played with Pleasant High School at the Harding gymnasium. Any team interested in securing games with the Wildcats can get in touch with Captain Todd by calling 7203 from 4 until 7 o'clock and 3341 after 7 o'clock, or Manager Hachten may be seen at the High School.

Borah, German added, apparently did not see the logic of what his criticisms might lead to when he gave his statement to the public. The senator was expected to venture an opinion at this time as to what the result would be.
